How to get healthier with Sunrider

It begins with a philosophy, a point of view.

Yes, you can change your health future!

If you can believe this, Sunrider can help you achieve it.

A starting point: the world we live in constantly challenges our health

- Pollution of air, land, and water
- Stress levels
- Sedentary lifestyle
- New germs and diseases
- Genetic weaknesses

A holistic viewpoint

These health challenges disrupt our physical, mental, and emotional well-being. They affect the quality of life, on many levels. Better health on one level means better quality of life on all levels. It is wise to take action now to meet the challenges that will affect our future health.

Medical care, a helpful but limited solution to health challenges

- Deals with symptoms only
- Forces the body to change
- Three major approaches: suppression, stimulation, and substitution
- Side effects to all medications
- Body loses strength
- Best reserved for short-term or emergency uses

Is there another choice?

Yes, because our bodies are designed with an innate ability to adjust to most health challenges, to self-regulate, and to self-repair.

This process of self-adjustment requires superior nourishment to all cells, organs, and body systems.

There may be other requirements, such as clean air, pure water, positive attitude, spiritual readiness, light, laughter, etc, etc, but Sunrider's expertise is mostly in the nutritional area. Sunrider also provides safe alternatives to ordinary personal care, beauty, and household care products, which are often damaging to health and environment.

Why today's "good diets" do not meet complex nutritional needs

- Plants and animals bred for profit not nutrition
- Soil depletion or over-fertilization with chemicals
- Poor practices of harvesting and storage
- Loss of nutrients through refining, processing, and cooking
- Pesticides and contaminants
- Poor combinations at the table
- Problems with digestion and assimilation

The Sunrider Philosophy of Regeneration

You can have optimum well-being when your body's complex nutritional needs are met daily. And your body will continue to improve, as long as you meet those needs.

The Sunrider solution to superior nutrition and better health

Nature provides thousands of wholesome herbs to meet our complex nutritional needs, and supplement a good diet. Sunrider's expertise is in selecting, preparing, and marketing herbal products that will assist us in overcoming today's health challenges.

Requirements for “regenerative” herbal food preparations

- Correct species and part of plant selected for nutritional, not medicinal, properties
- Proper growing conditions (soil, weather, etc)
- Care in harvesting to retain nutrients
- Whole food synergy (better than isolated vitamins/minerals)
- Proper combinations
- Adequate concentration
- No preservatives, additives, or contaminants

The Sunrider difference

- Expertise of founders, Drs Tei Fu and Oi-Lin Chen
- Philosophy of Regeneration
- Exclusive herbal formulations
- Extensive quality control
- Value of concentration
- International growth and stability
